

Pamela Alston is the President and CEO of CleaningCare, LLC, a cleaning company with a passion for cleaning and a desire to exceed expectations, with a concentration on post-construction/renovation clean-ups and church janitorial contracts.

Pamela has also worked in the field of finance for more than 25 years. She has worked in branch banking, training, Human Resources, and Executive Compensation, where she bought and sold stock for Executives.

To say that coaching children in Pop Warner High School, and All-Star cheerleading and dance is one of her hobbies would be a huge understatement. She has motivated, inspired, conducted team-building workshops, and taught hundreds of girls and boys the art of showmanship. Pamela has trained over 200 young women and has competed at the National level. Pamela has 10 National Titles.

Pamela received a BS in Sociology from Hampton University.
